National Lost Dog Awareness Day

Each year on April 23rd, National Lost Dog Awareness Day increases awareness concerning missing dogs and celebrates reunions.

Through networks of shelters, veterinaries, social media, and other media sources, many lost canines and families reunite. The day is an opportunity to learn more about prevention and networking. There are also steps to take to prevent your family pet from going missing. Some of these preventative steps also help return Fido to you if he does go missing.

Preventative steps to take:

- Keep your dog secure. Whether on a leash or in a fenced yard, your dog is less likely to wander if it is secured.
- Training is valuable. Dogs who have been trained by a professional are less likely to go missing. Most importantly, they learn recall commands. Formal obedience training also offers owners valuable information that can lead to a better relationship between pet and owner.

QUESTION OF THE DAY

Which parts of the Earth are experiencing the effects of climate change at a faster rate?

And the answer: Northern Latitudes.

As the sea ice melts, the open ocean absorbs more heat from the sun, causing even more ice to melt. This phenomenon is called Arctic amplification, which is causing the faster rate of climate change in higher latitudes.

With sea ice in our Arctic waters, the Sun’s harsh rays are easily reflected back into the atmosphere—effectively keeping the Earth cool. However, as temperatures rise and sea ice melts, that warmth is absorbed into the ocean, which causes a cascade of effects on its environment. While warmer ocean waters might make for a nice swim, it actually is a condition that is less hospitable for life

William Shakespeare Is Born

According to tradition, the great English dramatist and poet William Shakespeare is born in Stratford-upon-Avon on April 23, 1564. It is impossible to be certain the exact day on which he was born, but church records show that he was baptized on April 26, and three days was a customary amount of time to wait before baptizing a newborn. Shakespeare’s date of death is conclusively known, however: it was April 23, 1616. He was 52 years old and had retired to Stratford three years before.

Although few plays have been performed or analyzed as extensively as the 38 plays ascribed to William Shakespeare, there are few surviving details about the playwright’s life. This dearth of biographical information is due primarily to his station in life; he was not a noble, but the son of John Shakespeare, a leather trader and the town bailiff. The events of William Shakespeare’s early life can only be gleaned from official records, such as baptism and marriage records.

We Look Higher

The Slate Belt Heritage Center, Bangor, PA will give a glimpse into the African American experience in the Slate Belt in a new book and exhibit, starting April 30th.

A small community of African Americans settled in the upper tier of Northampton County from 1880-1970. Their story is told in a book and exhibit available to the public April 30th. You will discover why people left their old homelands and moved to a new place, how they dealt with challenges but kept their identity, what contributions they made to American life and how they were part of the waves of people who found a home in the Slate Belt.

The new book, The African American Experience in the Slate Belt by Jennie Dubin-Rodin, will be available for sale at the Center for $20.00.

You can also enjoy refreshed exhibits that feature early Slate Belt History, from the Lenape to the European settlers who established villages like Flicksville, to the waves of 19th and 20th century European immigrants that found employment in the slate, textile and garment industries and built local municipalities. The new firefighting exhibit features antique apparatus from the Slate Belt's golden industrial age.

The Slate Belt Heritage Center is located in the 1907 Town Hall building at 30 North First Street, Bangor, PA.
