House Leek

Some believe that the plant has been traditionally thought to protect against thunderstorms, and grown on house roofs for that reason, which is why it is called House Leek. It also has been believed to protect more generally against decay, witch craft and that plant they keep against evil atop their house.

Pen Argyl Plans Beautification Project Around Weona Park Pool

At a recent meeting of the Pen Argyl Athletic & Park Association, the Board approved a motion to take advantage of a very generous donation of mulch and equipment to undertake a beautification project at the site of the old pool.

The Park Board felt that until all funding/donations were secured, that area needed to be cleaned up and landscaped as it is one of the entry-ways into the community.

The Mayor, Borough Council, the staff, and Weona Park Pool Pals are working diligently to continue to raise the funding needed to create a destination park, complete with an aquatic feature. So please know this project is merely cleaning up the site a bit, the hard work of funding is still

The Perfect Wedding Photos Cost Americans This Much

A majority believe it's important to look good for their wedding photos

by Talker Research

Even in 10 married Americans said they couldn't even enjoy their wedding day because of how stressed they were over their own appearance.

A poll of 2,000 engaged or married Americans found on average, brides and grooms are willing to spend $1,680 on a good wedding photographer and an additional $1,581 on just getting ready for the photos themselves.

Four out of five (79%) believe it's important to have the perfect wedding photos and 68% believe it's important to look good for their wedding photos.

A quarter (24%) planned to have aesthetic changes done leading up to their big day.

Leading up to their picture debut, respondents said they plan or had planned to get their hair professionally done (56%), get their makeup done (45%), get their nails done (41%), lose weight (27%) and get their teeth whitened (26%).

However, the study commissioned by the Invisalign brand and conducted by OnePoll, found the lead-up to their wedding day rarely comes scot-free. Four in five (81%) said they feel or felt some level of stress leading up to their wedding day.

Weddings are so chaotic that sometimes even photoshoots don't go smoothly.

Over a fourth of married respondents (29%) experienced some kind of drama during their wedding photoshoot — including wedding party members running late (37%), in-laws or parents disagreeing on who should be in family photos (37%) and kids making faces (32%).

A third (33%) also stated they didn't show their teeth in any of their wedding photos because they were embarrassed by their smile.

When looking at other peoples' wedding photos, 40% said the first physical feature they look at is their smile

"Wedding days rank high among the most important days a person can experience in their life, and one of the milestones that bring patients into my office for a consultation," said orthodontist Dr. Marta Baird, DDS, MSD. "Knowing you're going to look great for photos that will be treasured for generations is so important to many of my patients who are planning a wedding."

Students Houseclean for Opening Day

by Riley Kocher, PAHS

On August 10th, 2023, from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm, about 20 students from the Character Education Program volunteered up to 5 hours of their time to help clean up the memorial garden at the Pen Argyl Area High School.

The Knights' Order, the Character Education program at Pen Argyl High School that organized the event, is responsible for service projects throughout the school and community.

The Knights' Order focuses on improving school climate, culture, and tolerance through hosting events and activities meant to showcase integrity, fortitude, diversity, and kindness. The Knights' Order wanted to give back to the community that has been so supportive of their other initiatives.

The group decided that during the summer they wanted to help make the garden in front of the school look better for all of the students and staff to enjoy during the school year. The clean up included weeding the patio and trimming all of the shrubs. Without the help of the students giving up a day of their summer the clean up would not have been possible

Walk IN the Bushkill Creek. Discover how early settlers manipulated the land and water to harness the flow of the creek to power different mechanisms. Gain a different perspective as you discover remnant land use clues from the past. Late-August is a great time to walk creeks because the water is not as high as is during other months, and it is still warm enough to feel refreshed as the rippling water grazes your ankles. This program is not appropriate for children under 8 years old or for those who find it difficult to maneuver through uneven, slippery terrain. Hiking poles will be provided along with boots, waders, and sneakers of a limited size assortment. We recommend wearing water shoes, wading boots, or old sneakers. Open toed shoes, sandals, or crocs are not appropriate for this activity. Registration is required. <https://events.dcnr.pa.gov/search/events?order=date&search=jacobsburg>

Mom Scrambles To Save Kids After Baby Monitor Explodes

By Adam Dutton via SWNS

A horrified mom has told how she saved her two children after a baby monitor exploded in her home.

Shannon Makepeace, 31, was baking cakes when her Hello Baby monitor, which was on the kitchen counter, started “hissing” and smoking.

She grabbed 1-year-old daughter Bonnie, who was asleep upstairs, and her son

Joey, 3, and dashed outside their home in Rugby, Warks.

Meanwhile, her mom Carmen, 51, smothered the burning device in a towel and threw it outside.

The Hello Baby monitor that combusted in Shannon’s home. The fire broke out last Tuesday, Aug. 1, two weeks after Shannon bought the £39.99 ($50.87 USD) monitor from Amazon.

She says if the monitor had exploded while the family were asleep, the outcome could have been tragic.

She said: “It was a terrifying experience.

“The monitor was in the kitchen. It had fallen forwards by itself and was making a sort of hissing noise.

“Smoke was coming out of it really fast and filled the downstairs of my house within seconds. It smelled absolutely awful.

The burned baby monitor.

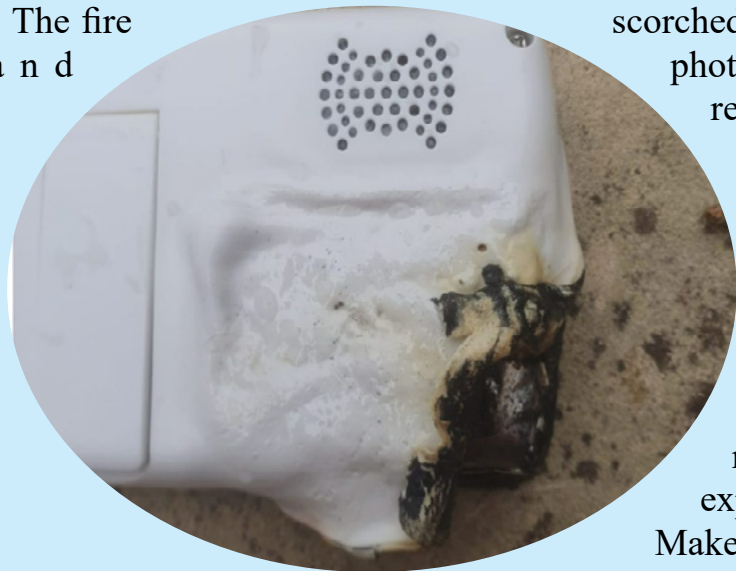

“It just happened really fast, it was like a whistling kettle.

“I told my mom the monitor was on fire and I thought it might really explode like you see electric bikes sometimes do.

“The kitchen was completely filled with smoke and it was filled with a smell of burning plastic.

“My mom quickly wrapped the burning monitor in a towel and chucked it in the garden.”

Shannon complained to the manufacturers Hello Baby but says they just emailed her offering to refund her the money.

She said: “The monitor burned my kitchen worktop and would no doubt have caused a serious fire had the circumstances been different.

“We emailed the company and they replied with a very non sympathetic offer of a refund and ‘sorry for the inconvenience’.

“It looks like the battery exploded in it. We emailed the company and explained what had happened.

“The first email was that they wanted the Amazon number and to offer a refund.

“They sent me back some certificates from testing saying it theoretically shouldn’t happen.

“I was there and I saw it so we could take action quickly. We used that monitor every night and asleep. It’s often on a carpet.

“We’re unlucky that it happened but lucky it happened when and where it did.

“It burnt the kitchen worktop where it was. The danger was had I not been in there it would have escalated into a fire very quickly.”

Shannon Makepeace, her partner Paul Farrington and children Bonnie and Joey.

Shannon’s mom Carmen said: “We believe the battery exploded.

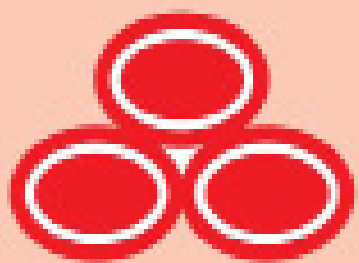

“It was in use but not plugged into the mains.

“Luckily Shannon heard it bang and we were able to get the burning unit out of the house after only a few seconds.

“The whole downstairs filled with awful, acrid smoke.

“It was so scary but we feel lucky. The situation could’ve been a lot worse.”

Hello Baby and Amazon have not responded to SWNS’ requests for comment.
