Girls Team Plays in Boys League And Wins championship

According to Deadspin.com An Alabama youth girls' basketball team that was told they would lose their practice facility unless they agreed to play in a boys' league went on to win the whole thing — and yet was denied the championship trophy. Instead, the trophies were given to the boys who, to be clear, were beaten by the girls in the league final, according to the mother of one of the girls.

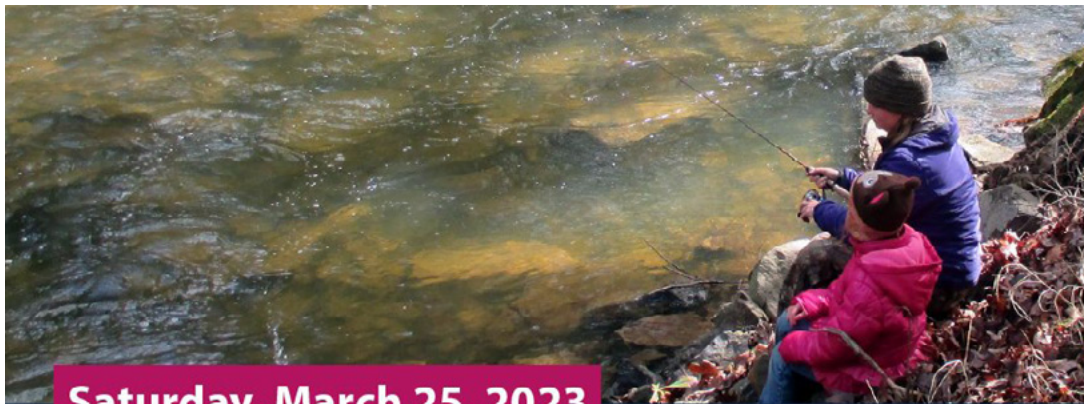

Jayne Mashayekh, the mother of one of the 5th-grade players on the Hoover, Ala., girls' rec team, explained the team's saga en route to winning the championship on her Facebook page:

“These girls have played together for 3 years for a competitive girl's league representing Spain Park. All are 5th graders in the Hoover school system. Half way through their season they were told they could not use the Hoover gyms for their practices unless they paid to play in the Hoover rec league. They were told to stay together as a team they had to play up a level in competition and play the 5th grade boys. The girls were middle of the pack throughout the season losing several close games by 1 point. Playing the boys was a challenge they rose to meet. It made them better players and a better team.

They were told before the championship that they could play in it but if they won they wouldn't be allowed to have the trophy. “Excuse me? What?” What did they do to get disqualified? Did they not pay their dues? Did they not play up a level in competition? Oh, it's because they're GIRLS?!?!

So sure enough these 5th grade girls played their hearts out, left it all on the floor and battled their male counterparts only to be told, “No, I'm sorry you don't count.”

So, to recap, the girls' team was told they would lose their regular practice facility unless they played in a boys' league. The team did so, worked their asses off, won the boys' league, and then were denied the championship, ostensibly for being girls. The male entitlement is staggering, as is the remarkable lack of awareness in the lesson this teaches both young men and women.

Welsh Day Presentation

Bangor's Annual Welsh Day Event: "Over Thirty Years of Celebrating Community"

The Slate Belt Heritage Center will hold their monthly historic program on Sunday March 12th @ 2:00 PM. Speaker for the afternoon will be Mr. John Reinhart, President of the St. David's Welsh Society whose topic will be: "Bangor's Annual Welsh Day Event: Over Thirty Years of Celebrating Community".

Diverse American communities have thrived throughout history by celebrating that diversity and working toward beneficial projects and goals. For over thirty years, Bangor's Welsh Day events drew thousands of visitors to the Slate Belt resulting in economic, cultural, and political gains for many in the region. Through pictures, artifacts and first-hand accounts, you will see just how influential these events were and how busy Labor Day weekends became in the Slate Belt.

The event is free and open to the public. The Heritage Center is located at 30 North 1st Street, Bangor, PA. For additional information contact: Karen Brewer @ 484-894-5661.

Pen Argyl Parade Leader Jerry DeLong Celebrating His 80th Birthday

by Larry Cory

If you have lived in Pen Argyl during the past 50 years or so, it's very likely that you have met, or at the very least, have learned about Jerry DeLong's contribution to the Pen Argyl Labor Day parade sponsored by Lookout Fire Co. #1 of Pen Argyl, where Jerry is also an honorary member.

Saturday 2-4pm, the fire company will honor Jerry on his 80th birthday at the Fire Company's Banquet Hall adjacent to Weona Park on Route 512.

According to a news release from Lookout, "Jerry is a simple man who has two prized possessions: his bicycle, which he rides to his borough hangouts and to lead the parade, and his tobacco pipe, which he is rarely without."

When this writer had an office in the early 2000s on West Pennsylvania Avenue (Rt. 512) the week wouldn't be complete without a visit from Jerry. When I picked up our daily mail at the Pen Argyl Post Office, Jerry could often be seen hanging out at Black's across the street.

Jerry's parade experience goes back 57 years to 1966 when he was, according to a story in the Morning Call, voted the "Best Clown" in the Bangor Halloween Parade.

A few years later, he was given a special award for riding a "Decorated Bike" in the Pen Argyl Labor Day parade. He received subsequent awards in 1982, 1983, 1987, and 1992.

Another story in the Morning Call from September 1992 confirmed that Jerry would continue his role of leading the parade. Some area residents say that his leadership goes back even further, perhaps as long as 50 years.

The affection the Fire Co. shares with Jerry is reflected in the following Fire Co. statement from July 2016: "We are asking that everyone keep our very own Honorary Member Jerry DeLong in their thoughts. The other night while on his way home on his bike, Jerry fell and was injured. The injuries he suffered did require surgery. We are happy to report he is doing well and is in good spirits. Now please help us and show your support for this Pen Argyl Icon, and most importantly, the official starter of our Labor Day Parade."

PEN ARGYL GOING TO 5A TITLE GAME

Knights Shoot Down NDGP 50-42

Pen Argyl scored an impressive win over Notre Dame Green Pond last night with a 50-42 win to earn a berth in the District XI championship versus Palmerton in a game to be played Friday night at a site and time to be determined today.

The Knights dominated the game from the outset, taking a 10-3 lead by the end of the first quarter and extending their lead to 20-9 at halftime.

Although the Crusaders outscored the Green Knights 33-30 in the second half, Pen Argyl hit nine of 13 free throws going down the stretch to win.

Winners of 12 of their last 13 games, Pen Argyl will try to stop Colonial League nemesis Palmerton, who defeated the Knights 49-46 in December and scored a triple overtime epic win two weeks ago in the Colonial League playoffs.

Regardless of the outcome, Pen Argyl will advance to the state tourney.
