Mom With Extreme Couponing Obsession Saves $9K A Year

By Ben Barry via SWNS

A savvy mom says she saves $9,000 a year on her groceries thanks to her extreme obsession with couponing.

Dianne Debarros, 34, began couponing - using tokens she finds online and in newspapers to get money off her shopping - to help with the cost of raising a family.

When food prices started to rise following the pandemic, the mother-of-two became obsessed with coupons to help lower her food bill.

Previously Dianne spent an average of $200 a week on groceries and has slashed her food shop cost to $30 a week - thanks to couponing.

Dianne, a digital freelancer, from Sarnia, Ontario, Canada, said: “After the pandemic, everything was getting so expensive.

“We were like ‘Well we have a backup plan’ as we know we know how to coupon.

“It has made a huge difference. I have met so many couponers across Canada and in the US - it is a community of people.

“We are trying to save to buy a house as we don’t own our home at the moment.

“With the cost of everything going up, some of the money we save will go to other things but we have a good chunk saved for our down payment to buy a house.”

Dianne started couponing in 2017 when she started to build a family.

She gets her coupons, online, on apps and even on shopping aisles.

Dianne said: “Coupons come out on a rotational in Canada. Each week you can go to new stores and get coupons in the aisles.

“You can use cashback apps and digital coupons.

“We use coupons mainly for our grocery budget to make it $30 a week.

“There are also lots of programs you can sign up for. I have received free make-up, diapers - you can get all sorts of things.”

Dianne became hooked on coupons when the living cost crisis hit and used them more to save on her groceries.

By using the vouchers she is able to get her food shop down to $30 a week for the family of four.

Dianne said: “We use coupons mainly for our grocery budget to be $30 a week so if we can get our budget to $30 that is fantastic.

“When we first came out of the pandemic, we would spend $200 a week.

“It was too much, we knew we needed to get serious and use our points better as spending $200 a week would not work for us.

“We always pick up a lot of shopping that we can donate. My mum comes over and shops at our house too.”

PA Approves Girls Wrestling

SanctionPA hosted a celebration in to mark the third and final vote by the PIAA Athletics Board of Directors to sanction girls high school wrestling as an official sport. Local Rep. Ann Flood, (pictured above) an advocate for girls wrestling, also attended the affair.

It has been an absolute honor to work together with them and Sen. Scott Martin (R-Berks/Lancaster) to see this through. There were several media outlets and newspapers on hand to cover this incredible, long-overdue moment.

It has been a dream of mine to see girls have the same opportunity to compete on the mat that boys do. Wrestling has been a passion of mine since the age of five, so to grow up and have the opportunity to be a part of making this happen has been a surreal experience.

Congratulations to Brooke Zumas, SanctionPA and to all the girl wrestlers and advocates who put the time in and pushed to see this through. I am looking forward to watching it go down at States in Hershey next March!

James Gloria Fine Arts Studio Classes For All Artists

The James Gloria Fine Arts Studio is now offering studio classes for artists of all levels, beginner to experienced — teen through adults.

AI and the Artist

It seems that there are at least a few breathless articles a day about the power of Artificial Intelligence, and warnings about its potential pitfalls.

For artists, AI is presented as an existential threat; a device that will make artists obsolete. After all, anyone will be able to enter a few words into the AI program Dall-E and it will produce an image. Why hire an artist? Why paint for that matter when you can just order up an image in any style from a keypad.

This seems to miss the essence of why we make art. We mistake the product of a painting for the experience of painting. I paint to have an experience; for the challenge of the process. It reminds me of the 1970's intro to ABC's "Wide World of Sports"...I paint for "the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat...the human drama of ... competition".

Maybe painting a landscape outdoors isn't quite as risky as a ski jump, but grappling with visual challenges and learning a craft has its own rewards. And unlike the ski jump, you can do it safely for years to come.

Private classes tailored to your personal goals and abilities. Paint for fun or hone your skills and experiment with new techniques

- Learn the Fundamentals of Art and Design
- Hone skills of observation and perception
- Explore new media: watercolor, oils, sculpture and more
- Portfolio prep classes for art majors applying to college

Slate Belt Heritage Center Announces Winners For 2023 Annual Preservation Awards

Special Focus Award Hope Horn

The Special Focus Award goes to an individual who has shown exemplary actions in saving or conserving traditions or a body of knowledge and contributes to educational information. This award is to acknowledge individuals who have performed acts that promote and preserve the culture and heritage of the Slate Belt. This year's winner is Ms. Hope Horn. Ms. Horn was nominated back in February 2020 due to her continuous teachings of the 'Wool School' out of the former Oughoughton one-room schoolhouse in Richmond, PA.

Ms. Horn has spent countless hours in her school teaching classes on dying, spinning and weaving products from wool, while using her own sheep and goats, and doing all the sheering herself along with dying the wool with natural produces like goldenrod. She also sells products at the adjacent restored general store located next to the school. Ms. Horn has a passion for passing on educational information and conserving a traditional body of knowledge. For this, she has been nominated for the Special Focus Award for 2023.

Architectural Award Raymond DiFebo

The Architectural Award goes to an individual who has shown an exemplary act in saving or conserving a historic building, place or artifact where restoration is authentic to preservation. The award is to acknowledge individuals who have performed acts that promote and preserve the culture and heritage of the Slate Belt. This year's winner is Mr. Raymond DiFebo. Mr. DiFebo was also nominated back in February 2020 for his work taking the former pre-1900s Fosbinder Butcher Shop located in Martin's Creek and restoring it as a place of residence. The original store counter now rests in the kitchen. Additionally, the original posts and beams, block and tackle for moving carcasses, meat hooks, wainscoting and tin ceiling have also been retained, along with the storeroom for animal hides and the concrete smokehouse. Mr. DiFebo has preserved a historic building, as well as authentic and original artifacts. For this he has been nominated for the Architectural Award for 2023.

acquiring knowledge in agriculture, animal husbandry and organic farming. Overall, she believed that Upper Mount Bethel, the Bangor Area, and the Slate Belt needed such a vital resource to nurture and compliment the rural nature of the surrounding region by fostering farm and garden practices and supplying the basic resources needed to promote such a lifestyle in the community. For this, her business has been nominated for the Architectural Award/Business Category for 2023

Architectural Business Award Aline Haddad and Jesse Poliskiewicz

Additionally within the Architectural Award, SBHC also recognizes businesses who have shown an exemplary act in saving or conserving a historic building, place or artifact where restoration is authentic to preservation. The award is to acknowledge businesses who have performed acts that promote and preserve the culture and heritage of the Slate Belt. This year's winner is Johnsonville Farm & Garden. Owners, Aline Haddad and Jesse Poliskiewicz operate a community-based general store stocked with agricultural necessities and local products. In general, Ms. Haddad came up with the concept of restoring and reopening the former store when she returned home from college in 2012 after
