WORLD HELLO DAY

World Hello Day, on November 21st, recognizes the role communication plays for preserving peace. The day also encourages world leaders to use communication rather than force to settle conflicts.

It doesn't take a lot of effort to say hello. It's one little word that means a whole lot. Hello shows that you are friendly. It shows that you want to connect with someone. Saying hello is a great way to start a conversation. Generally, when you say hello to someone, they say it back.

Hello provides a way to communicate with everyone from family members to co-workers. You can even greet strangers you pass by on the sidewalk or in the hallway. Saying hello with a smile is a great way to brighten someone's day. It's incredible how one little word brings so much goodness to the world. Hello is often one of the first words a baby says.

* Thomas Edison was the first to say hello upon receiving a phone call. * Hello is believed to derive from the word hail, which dates back to the Middle Ages. * Hello is related to other words that mean health. * The word was first used in the 1800s but was used to express surprise.

Flood's Bill Addresses Sexual Harassment

HARRISBURG – In response to recent cases of sexual harassment at the Capitol, five female members of the House Republican Caucus today unveiled a legislative package to make significant reforms to protect taxpayers and victims. Local Rep. Ann Flood was among the five members of the House to sponsor legislation. Others are: Rep. Abby Major, Rep. Kate Klunk, Rep. Donna Scheuren, and Rep. Charity Grimm Krupa.

Flood's bill would enshrine the federal non-disclosure agreement law into state law. More specifically, it would prohibit the enforcement of pre-employment non-disclosure agreements and non-disparagement agreements between employers and employees, independent contractors, and between goods and services providers and consumers. In addition, it would void any agreements that were in place before a sexual assault or harassment dispute arises.

SBCC Annual Awards

Justin Huratiak (L) received a citation for Businessperson of the Year Rep. Ann Flood and Karen Brewer (R) a citation for Volunteer of the Year at a Certificate of Recognition at the annual dinner held at Allegheny Brewing Company in Mount Bethel.

We Are Wired To Be Kind

World Kindness Week, November 13-19, came into being when several humanitarian groups came together on November 13, 1997, and made a Declaration of Kindness. What started as World Kindness Day turned into World Kindness Week, where everyone is encouraged to make a similar declaration of kindness and charity. The week is celebrated by donating books, food, or clothes to local communities and pledging to empathize with other people. Even the smallest act of kindness can go a long way, and you should never pass up an opportunity to help someone in need. World Kindness Week aims to create a society where everyone can live a dignified life.

World Kindness Week first began as a week of observation by the World Kindness Movement. A group of associations based in countries like Thailand, England, Australia, and America came together to promote their combined society. The initial days of the World Kindness Movement started from this event. They created the written declaration of their inception, which stated that the movement pledges to build a kinder and more compassionate world. It was only natural that they would help launch the inaugural World Kindness Week in 1997.

The sole purpose of this week is to focus on the positivity that surrounds us every day. It's a week to learn, teach, and share our kindness with others. The root of the word 'kindness' originates from the Old English word 'kyndnes,' which is a derivative from the Middle English word 'kindenes,' a word for courtesy.

- Kindness is teachable
- We are psychologically wired to help someone in need.
- It's contagious
- Witnessing an act of kindness improves our mood, making us more likely to pay it forward.
- Kindness makes you live longer
- There's 44% less chance of dying early if you are kind.
- Serotonin source
- Like most medical antidepressants, kindness stimulates the production of serotonin.
- Kindness has anti-aging effects
- Perpetually kind people have 23% less stress hormone and age slower than the average population.

Why Keeping A Secret Can Be Good For You

A Columbia University Study Explored The Benefits Of Keeping Secrets

By Isobel Williams via SWNS

Keeping secrets can be a good thing, according to new research.

Three-quarters of people (76 percent) said they would immediately share good news but the study suggests that keeping it a secret might brighten your day.

The research, published in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, involved more than 2,500 participants in five experiments.

Lead author Professor Michael Slepian from Columbia University said: "Decades of research on secrecy suggest it is bad for our well-being, but this work has only examined keeping secrets that have negative implications for our lives.

"Is secrecy inherently bad for our well-being or do the negative effects of secrecy tend to stem from keeping negative secrets?"

"While negative secrets are far more common than positive secrets, some of life's most joyful occasions begin as secrets, including secret marriage proposals, pregnancies, surprise gifts and exciting news."

People who reported that they intended to share their news with others also reported feeling more energized, whether the news was secret or not.

Participants were most energized when they were keeping their good news secret in order to surprise their partner later.

The research found that the reason positive secrets are so much better for you than negative secrets is that people keep positive secrets for internal or personal reasons, rather than because they feel forced by outside pressures to keep the information secret.

This contrasts with negative or embarrassing secrets which are often governed by external pressures or fears.

Professor Slepian said: "Positive secrets that people choose to keep should make them feel good, and positive emotion is a known predictor of feeling energized.

"People will often keep positive secrets for their own enjoyment, or to make a surprise more exciting.

The Mosaic Youth Chorus provides opportunities beyond the Lehigh Valley, with chorister preparation for Honor Choirs, such as the Bent, But Not Broken conference in Newark, DE focusing on the choral music of African American Composers, and the American Choral Directors Association Honor Choirs.

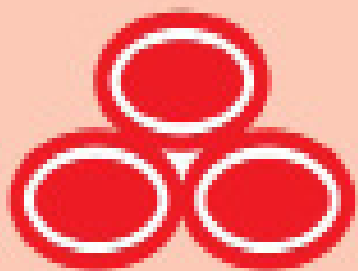

Dr. Hirokawa connects her deep knowledge of the music and artistry with the emotional needs of today's youth. Passionate about giving youth a platform to express themselves through the choral medium, Dr. Hirokawa comments "Singing in a choir provides a unique opportunity for young people to have a shared experience of community and unity. We dive deeply into the music, exploring not only historical context and musical aspects, but also motivations of the composer and lyricist.

Julia Pinter Signs With Wake Forest

By Larry Cory

Bangor High School's Julia Pinter signed a Letter of Intent Wednesday afternoon to compete in the Javelin with the Wake Forest Track and Field team next year in Winston Salem, North Carolina where she plans to major in Exercise Science.

Her athletic career path, however, wasn't always headed in that direction.

"I played softball up until my 8th grade year and my dad suggested that I should try (javelin)," Pinter said. "So, I came out freshman year, kind of dealt with COVID not having practice, and started throwing. I just stuck with it and I ended up loving it and started doing it more competitively."

Pinter, who also plays soccer and basketball, still finds time to perfect her javelin throw.

"It's kind of just time management and things like that," she said. "I love playing sports, kind of being all around. I love my teammates being out with my friends at the sport."

When she finds time to work on throwing the javelin, she says that "technique," is the most difficult part of the sport.

That technique, however, has led her to consecutive Colonial League

Championships, and a second place in the District 11 AAA tourney.

Along the way she also tied the school record with a throw of 136-10.

Highlights of Pinter's athletic career at Bangor:

- Four-Year Letterwinner in Girls' Soccer and Track and Field
- Three-Year Letterwinner in Girls' Basketball
- PIAA 3A Track and Field Championships (Javelin) - 5th Place (2023)
- District XI 3A Track and Field Championships (Javelin) - 2nd Place (2023), 4th Place (2022)
- Two-time Colonial League Javelin Champion (2022, 2023)
- Tied school record with throw of 136-10 in javelin
- District XI 5A Girls' Basketball Runners-Up (2021-22, 2022-23)
- Two-time qualifier in PIAA Championships in both Girls' Basketball and Track and Field
- Team Captain - Girls' Soccer
- Colonial League Girls' Basketball Honorable Mention All-Star (2022-23)
- LehighValleyLive.com First Team All Star in Track and Field (2022-23) and Honorable Mention All-Star in both girls' soccer and girls' basketball (2022-23)

Merlin Repsher A Fire Fighter For Life

by Larry Cory

It's safe to say that Merlin Repsher has been a fire fighter in the making most of his life, and therefore not surprising that he is celebrating 60 years of service with the Bangor Fire Department.

Much of his career path has been filled with many memorable experiences that have led him to a satisfying, lifelong experience as a fire fighter. As a child, he lived on Miller Street just a short distance from the Second Ward Fire company in South Bangor. One night, while he and his family were visiting friends on Messinger Street in Bangor, a few blocks from home, they received a call that the A & P (now the Bangor General Store on Broadway) was on fire. He was asked if he wanted to walk "uptown" to see the fire, which was an experience that he would never forget.

His uncle was the fire chief in Cornwall Heights, Bucks County where Repsher recalls him responding to fire calls. "One time he took me to the station and showed me how to operate the siren on one of the fire engines," Repsher said. "He had to lift me up so I could stand on the running board and depress the siren switch with my hands. I kept at it until he lifted me off the running board."

At play in his youth, he fondly remembers spending time playing with toy fire trucks, and when the fire whistle sounded, he knew that the real fire trucks would be rolling ASAP.

"I guess the bottom line is, from early childhood with my uncle's influence, I (always) wanted to be a fire fighter," he said.

After serving his country with the Air Force, he returned home and submitted an application to Rescue Fire Company to become a fire fighter.

He was accepted into active membership on October 6, 1963 to serve a one-year probationary period. Sixty years later, he continues his service to the community as an active fire fighter.

During his career he has served as Chief Engineer of the Pumper for 35 years and was Assistant Fire Chief for five years. He also served in every position from Fire Recorder to President, except for Trustee.

In 2013 he was given a citation by Matt Cartwright honoring him for 50 years of service, and just a short time ago, he received a similar citation from Ann Flood for 60 years of service.

In 1964, he began attending Northampton County Fire School classes and their monthly business meetings. In 1972, he was elected Treasurer, a position he still holds 51 years later.

Repsher was a PA State Fire Academy Certified Non-Suppression Instructor and Northampton Community College Adjunct Professor, teaching 30-hour classes in Pump Operations as well as a VFIS Certified Emergency Vehicle Driver Training Instructor.

One of the accomplishments which Merlin is most proud of is when he and Anthony Curcio in 1972 introduced the idea of using a new alerting system, where each member had an alerting unit which was activated by Blue Mountain Control Center. This took the place of the pull stations throughout the town which had activated the siren.

He also is well known for his rendition of taps on Veterans Day and Memorial Day.
