Pen Argyl Mayor Male's August Selections

Fauci: Avoid Superspreader Labor Day Events

Dr. Anthony Fauci said Labor Day weekend will be key in determining whether the U.S. gets a “running start” at containing the coronavirus this fall. Fauci said Monday he has a “great deal of faith in the American people” to wash their hands, practice social distancing, wear masks, avoid crowds, and congregate outside during the weekend celebrations. He said it’s important to avoid a surge in coronavirus cases like those after the Memorial Day and July 4th holidays.

He made the comments on a White House conference call with governors, the audio of which was obtained by The Associated Press.

Chat About Chickadees and Climate Change

Thursday, September 17 at 7:00pm to 8:00pm

This program will be held virtually via Skype it will NOT take place face-to-face at the center.

You may have spotted small and cute black, gray,

and white

chickadees

at your

birdfeeder

or while hiking in the woods.

What

you may not have realized

is that the

chickadees

you've spotted here in the Lehigh Valley could be hybrids--formed when individuals from two different species mate and produce offspring.

If you've lived in the Lehigh Valley for several years or more, the chickadees you've spotted recently might be more likely to be hybrids than those that you saw ten years ago! Dr. Amber Rice will talk about research done in her lab at Lehigh University that has shown how climate change is affecting the ranges of chickadees, and possibly leading to increased hybridization.

She will also discuss how she's examining some of the consequences of this hybridization on chickadee behavior, and how it may translate into selective pressures acting on chickadees. This is a virtual program. Participants will need to possess an internet capable device with the Skype application installed. Registration is Required.

Weona Park Book

A Centennial book is being written to commemorate the 100th Anniversary of Weona Park in Pen Argyl.

Anyone with fond memories or interesting stories should send them to Walt Cole at wrcole3@gmail.com This would include any information from your parents or grandparents. Perhaps a grandparent or great-grandparent helped to build the park, or worked on a WPA project during the Depression. Perhaps you worked at the park, were a life guard or had an interesting experience.

Stories about sporting events, swimming, or any activities would be of interest. They are also interested in pictures of family reunions, church gatherings or other organizations having picnics at the park. They are also looking for pictures of the clay tennis courts, the old miniature golf course, the band shell and events at the athletic field. Please check out those old photo albums for memories to share.

Don't Just Push Germs Around, Eliminate Them

Many cleaning tools give the impression that they are killing germs and cleaning your home when in reality they are simply spreading germs to other more hidden areas of your home. The only way to avoid this is by sanitizing these cleaning tools, such as mops, dusters, and dishrags between uses or they will continue to spread bacteria around your house. This issue often goes unnoticed, as some of the most sparkling clean homes can be saturated with bacteria while other

Quarry Holes Filled With Water and Hidden Dangers

During hot weather some quarry lakes look inviting, but there many hidden dangers: deep water, cold water, submerged abandoned machinery and car wrecks, underwater ledges and recesses, hidden currents and tunnels, submerged plants, dead animals and excrement, rubbish, pollution and dangerous algae.

The greatest danger is cold water which is much colder than rivers, lakes and the sea. Many quarries are so deep that they are fed with water from underground springs or aquifers. This water originates deep within the ground, and is extremely cold. You are likely to become exhausted much more quickly than you would think. In addition to this, a sudden plunge into cold water could cause your body to go into "shock".
