Toddlers Who Nap Far Too Much May Have Poorer Thinking Skills

By Stephen Beech via SWNS

Toddlers who nap a lot have smaller vocabularies and poorer thinking skills, according to new research. Parents the world over tend to worry about their children getting either too little or too much sleep.

But the new study suggests that some children are more efficient at consolidating information during sleep, so they nap less frequently.

Meanwhile, others - usually those with fewer words and poorer cognitive skills - need to nap more often, according to the findings.

Researchers say that reducing naps for those children will not improve brain development and that they should be allowed to snooze as frequently and for as long as they need.

Lead researcher Dr. Teodora Gliga said: “There is a lot of parental anxiety around sleep.

“Parents worry that their kids don’t nap as much as expected for their age – or nap too frequently and for too long.

“ B u t our research shows that how frequently a child naps reflects their individual cognitive need.

“Some are more efficient at consolidating information during sleep, so they nap less frequently.

“Children with smaller vocabularies or a lower score in a measure of executive function, nap more frequently.

“Young children will naturally nap for as long as they need and they should be allowed to do just that.”

The research team studied 463 children between eight months and three years of age during lockdown in 2020.

Parents were asked about their children’s sleep patterns, their ability to focus on a task, keep information in their memory, and the number of words that they understood and could say.

The researchers also asked mums and dads about their socio-economic status – including their postcode, income, and education - and about the amount of screen time and outdoor activities their child engaged in.

Dr. Gliga, of the University of East Anglia (UEA), said: “Lockdown gave us an opportunity to study children’s intrinsic sleep needs because when children are in childcare, they rarely nap as much as they need to.

“Because nurseries were closed, it meant less disturbance to the children’s natural sleep patterns. None of the children taking part were attending daycare.

“What we found is that the structure of daytime sleep is an indicator of cognitive development.

“Infants with more frequent but shorter naps than expected for their age had smaller vocabularies and worse cognitive function.

“We also found that this negative association between vocabulary and frequency of naps was stronger in older children,” she added.

“While the majority of parents told us that their child’s sleep was unaffected by lockdown, parents from lower socio-economic backgrounds were more likely to report a worsening in sleep.

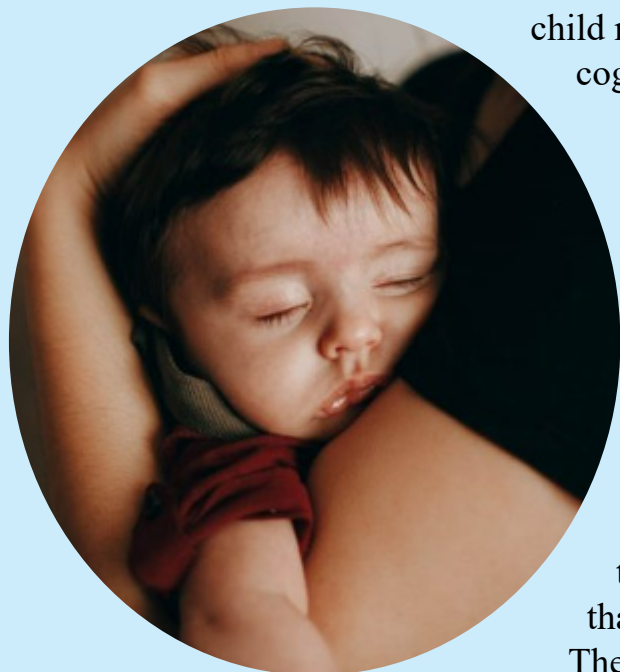

“Screen time increased during lockdown and outdoor activities decreased but these did not explain differences in children’s sleep.”

She added: “Previous work suggested that caregivers should encourage frequent naps, in preschool children.

“Our findings suggest that children have different sleep needs – some children may drop naps earlier because they don’t need them anymore. Others may still need to nap past three years of age.

“In the UK, preschools enrolling three to five-year-olds have no provisions for napping.

“Caregivers should use a child’s mental age and not chronological age to ascertain a child’s sleep needs,” she added.

Bride Surprises Hospital-Stricken Grandma After Her Wedding

“She Has Waited For This Day To See Me Get Married

By Ben Barry via SWNS

A woman whose grandma couldn't be there to watch her walk down the aisle stopped to visit her in the hospital on her wedding day.

Jessica Colalillo, 24, tied the knot to her long-time partner, Adam, 31, a real estate agent, on August 26, 2023.

But her 88-year-old grandma, Gemma Russo, was unable to attend after she had a fall resulting in a long hospital stay.

On the day of her wedding, desperate to make her grandma a part of her special day, Jessica visited her in Juravinski Hospital, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, after their vows on the way to get their wedding photographs.

Hospital staff were in on the surprise and wheeled Gemma outside to be greeted by Jessica and Adam.

Jessica said her grandma - who she refers to as her “nonna” - was “hysterical” and commented on how beautiful she looked.

Jessica, an operation coordinator, from Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, said: “My nonna was at my bridal shower and was so excited to watch me walk down the aisle.

Jessica, 24, and her husband Adam, 31, surprise her 88-year-old grandma, Gemma Russon, on their wedding day. (Felicia Albanese via SWNS)

“Three weeks before my wedding she had a fall and had to go to hospital.

“This resulted in her suffering severe mobility issues and becoming bedbound.

“The day before the wedding, we told the hospital how we were planning on going to visit her.

“She was hysterical, she was so happy.

“I am sure she was upset she couldn't come but nonetheless she was happy to see me in the dress.”

Jessica and Adam got engaged in September 2021, in Positano, Italy.

They tied the knot at Liuna Station, in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, surrounded by 370 of their closest family and friends.

Bangor 1885 Club Honors New Inductees

Recently, at the Bangor Area High School Alumni Association’s 21st annual they inducted six new members into their “1885 Club” Wall of Fame. Before the presentation, several very talented members of the choral group under Mr. DiMinico, who was being honored as distinguished educator, gave a surprise performance of two wonderful songs to honor him. It was a very memorable and touching moment. The inductees of the night were: Lieutenant Robert Allen Butz, Joseph “Butch” DiMinco, Todd G. Dean, Jamie Ann Janette, Tara Murray and Gregory D. Wolfe.

Solar Eclipse

On Oct. 14, 2023, an annular solar eclipse will cross North, Central, and South America and will be visible in parts of the United States. You'll be able to see a partial eclipse from the Nurture Nature Center at 518 Northampton St, Easton. An annular solar eclipse happens when the Moon passes between the Sun and Earth, but when it's at the farthest point from Earth. This is the last annular solar eclipse that will be visible from the United States until June 21, 2039.

Join us at NNC for special programming around the eclipse!

*During an annular eclipse, it is never safe to look directly at the Sun without specialized eye protection designed for solar viewing.

Ethan Joella Author Luncheon

Pen Argyl graduate Ethan Joella will be the guest of the Blue Mountain Community Library Author Luncheon on Tuesday, Sept. 26, 2023 at Grace United Methodist Church, 404 E. Mountain Ave., Pen Argyl, PA. Doors open at 11:30 am and lunch begins at 12:00 pm.

Tickets are $15.00 and includes a soup, a sandwich (both catered by Café on Broadway) desserts and beverage. All tickets MUST be purchased at the library through September 15, 2023 and will not be available at the door.

Featured this year is Local author, Ethan Joella who will discuss his novels, "A Little Hope" and "A Quiet Life." Ethan's first novel, "A Little Hope" is a sweet and tender take on small-town life, community, family, and friendship. The author has crafted a story of ordinary moments that connect the characters in extraordinary ways with eventual forgiveness and redemption.

A graduate of Pen Argyl High School, Joella now resides in Rehoboth Beach, Delaware with his wife and two daughters where he teaches English and Psychology at the University of Delaware. Both books are available to borrow at the library and signed copies of Joella's books may be purchased at this event.

Cookbooks in the Book Nook

Do you like to cook or collect cookbooks? If so, stop into the Blue Mt. Community Library, located at 216 S. Robinson Ave. Pen Argyl and browse through the Book Nook.

Along with many adult and children's gently used books and puzzles, there is a large collection of cookbooks available to purchase. The library is open M-Sa, 10:00 am to Noon, and M & Th 6:00 to 8:00 pm.

Membership is not needed to purchase items in the Book Nook, but is free to all residents of the Pen Argyl Area School District. Nonresidents may join for a small yearly fee.

The library also has Pen Argyl yearbooks available to buy. Call 610-863-3029 or visit our Facebook page or website at www.bmcl.org for information about the library
